

Storyboard

By hand or using technology, create a storyboard that depicts your interpretation of events that occurred in Will R. Bird’s short story, “Paid-up Member”. A storyboard is a series of images with brief captions that retell a story through images. You must have five small illustrations, each accurately representing an important scene from the text. Below each image, provide a brief two to three sentence description of what is taking place in each scene. Arrange your storyboard scenes and descriptions in the proper order in which they occurred.

Newspaper Article

Imagine that you are a journalist who has just witnessed an important scene that occurred in Hector Hugh Munro’s short story, “The Interlopers”. Create a front page newspaper article that describes the five W’s: when did the scene take place, where did it take place, who were the people involved, why did it happen and what happened? Your newspaper must also include a headline, a quote from a witness (using your creativity to imagine what they saw, smelled, touched, tasted, or heard) and a drawing all with a clear message that is consistent with the opinions you express in the article.
